VOL. XXIX.

BROKEN BOW, CUSTER COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1900.—EIGHT PAGES.

NO 8

If you want glasses from me, don't expect to rush into my place, run your hand into a pile of spectacles and hurry out with the first pair you "can see thro'." I shall not allow you to fool with your eyes in this way.

If you can't allow me time for a thorough examination time to ascertain the trouble and decide upon the remedy—time to do justice to you, myself and your eyes, don't come to me for your glasses. I must know that every pair of glasses leaving my store is right—absolutely right.

It isn't the material that goes into a repair job that counts. It is the way it is done. It is the way it is done that counts.

that does the business, any bungler can buy the fine kinds of material that I use in repairing; but skill is the most valuable material that can be used in watch repairing; and the bungler can't buy it. I sell my skill for what it is worth and it will cost you less than bungling at lower prices.

Union Sunday School Picnic Postponed One Week.

Not being able to secure a special train Aug. 15th the date of the Union S. S. picnic to Ravenna will not be held until Wednesday Aug. 22nd. Train will leave Broken Bow at 8 a. m.

The two rains the first of the week, amounting to over two inches, will increase the yield of corn in Custer county thousands of bushels. No less than five bushels or more to the acre, where the corn was not badly damaged, can confidently be expected. The rain Sunday night was less than one inch, but was one and one-half inches Monday night. Northeast of town the precipitation Monday night was about three inches. The rains extended north west as far as Hyannis, southeast beyond Mason City, and southwest beyond Callaway. From the best information we have been able to gather, the greater portion, if not the whole of Custer county, has been favored.

Stabbing Affray.

Monday afternoon John M. Sweeney of the west table and Edward Martin got into a quarrel which resulted seriously for Sweeney. It is reported that Sweeney knocked Martin down. When Martin recovered his footing he used his pocket knife freely, inflicting five wounds, two of which, one near the heart the other in the abdomen, it was feared would prove fatal, but at this writing the chances of recovery are regarded as favorable. He was brought to the Broken Bow hospital Tuesday for medical treatment. Martin was arrested Monday night at Anselmo, and lodged in jail Tuesday morning. Sweeney awaits his trial. Sheriff Armstrong now has five prisoners, held for criminal offences. They are the two who burglarized Mrs. Tierney's safe at Ansley, Wickham and Hoagland, for stealing cattle, and Mr. Martin.
